

The Evolution of Rediscover East!

Created by and for East Nashville residents, businesses, and institutions, Rediscover East! is a nonprofit organization committed to preserving the authentic character of East Nashville and enhancing the quality of life for all of its citizens.

Following the 1998 tornado, which destroyed large sections of East Nashville, neighbors rallied to rebuild and revitalize East Nashville's neighborhoods. Community leaders formed a Long-Range Planning Committee, and a new vision for East Nashville began to emerge.

The Committee discovered a program sponsored by the American Institute of Architects called Regional/Urban Design Assistance Team (R/UDAT), which has helped communities across the nation in need of redevelopment for more than 30 years. Building on East Nashville's existing strengths, the team developed a long-range plan that would not only address what had been damaged or destroyed, but would breathe new life into all of East Nashville.

Before the plan could be implemented, East Nashville needed an organization that would represent the collective voice of the community, reflecting its concerns and desires: Rediscover East! was born.

Rediscover East! Today

Today, hundreds of dedicated Rediscover East! volunteers, representing all of East Nashville's neighborhood associations and numerous other stakeholder groups, are working to rebuild and beautify East Nashville's public spaces, encourage economic growth, enhance neighborhood safety and accessibility, develop public art and cultural offerings, support our children and youth, and much more.
